Video 1. Video from a representative trial from Condition 6, with concurrent choice between food and social release. The focal rat first selected the food option, and consumed all 5 food pellets from the tube, ending the trial. Had some or all of the food pellets been left, the trial would have continued, thereby permitting sharing. (Note: the camera angle is opposite the front of the apparatus, reversing the Left/Right orientation shown in Figure 1.)

Video 2. Video from the trial subsequent to that shown in Video 1, with concurrent choice between food and social release. The focal rat first selected social release, which permitted 30 s of social interaction, ending the trial. (Note: the camera angle is opposite the front of the apparatus, reversing the Left/Right orientation shown in Figure 1.)
